

The 9th JGES-ASGE Joint Symposium

Comparative safety and efficacy of cold polypectomy techniques and its divergence between Japan and U.S.

5月10日(木) 14:15 ~ 16:15 第9会場 (グランドプリンスホテル新高輪 国際館パミール 1階 旭光)

Moderators	President, American Society for Gastrointestinal Endoscopy (ASGE) / Houston Methodist Gastroenterology Associates, USA Gastrointestinal Center, Sano Hospital, Japan	Karen L. Woods Yasushi Sano
IS1-1.	Cold Snare Polypectomy for Non-Ampullary Duodenal adenomas Division of Endoscopy, Shizuoka Cancer Center, Japan	Kohei Takizawa
IS1-2.	Current Status of Endoscopic Management for Diminutive and Small Colorectal Polyps in Japan Department of Gastroenterology and Hepatology, Gunma University Graduate School of Medicine, Japan	Toshio Uraoka
IS1-3.	Removal Completeness of Cold Snare Polypectomy for Subcentimeter Colorectal Polyps Department of Gastrointestinal Oncology, Osaka International Cancer Institute, Japan	Yoji Takeuchi
IS1-4.	Quality and safety of cold snare polypectomy based on pathological evaluation in Japan Digestive Disease Center, Showa Inan General Hospital, Japan	Akira Horiuchi
IS1-5.	Cold Snare Resection of Large Polyps Henry Ford Health System, USA	Cyrus R. Piraka
IS1-6.	Optimizing the safe and efficacious removal of diminutive and small colorectal lesions - learning and using cold snare polypectomy University of California, San Francisco; Veterans Affairs San Francisco Health Care System, USA	Tonya Kaltenbach
IS1-7.	Reimbursement Prospects for Cold Resection in the United States CEO, American Society for Gastrointestinal Endoscopy (ASGE) , USA	Patricia V. Blake